Dear Chairs and Ranking Members:

Enclosed please find the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's report on Time-Critical Removal Actions since January 1, 2017. The Joint Explanatory Statement accompanying the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2022 (Public Law 117-103) instructed the EPA to adhere to the provisions included in House Report 117-83 directing the agency to submit a report to both the House and Senate Committee on Appropriations. Specifically, the House Report included the following:

The Committee also directs the Agency, within 180 days of enactment of this Act, to submit a report on the status of each time-critical removal action for which Federal funds greater than $1,000,000 have been expended since January 1, 2017, along with the Federal cost of clean-up efforts, whether responsible parties have faced criminal charges, and the amount of recovered Federal dollars.

The EPA is providing a list of completed time-critical removal actions for which federal funds greater than $1,000,000 have been expended since January 1, 2017. This is an update to the previous report provided in August 2021. As on-going time-critical removal action expenditures change on a daily basis, the estimated cost of cleanup efforts has not been provided for these actions. Where available, the agency has provided information on whether responsible parties have faced criminal charges and the amount of recovered dollars.

Should you need additional information or have further questions, please contact Ed Walsh at walsh.ed@epa.gov or (202) 564-4594.

Sincerely,

Amin,
Faisal

¹ The EPA has provided a list of on-going time-critical removal actions where federal funds greater than $1,000,000 are anticipated to be expended since January 1, 2017. On-going time-critical removal action expenditures change on a daily basis, therefore, the federal cost has not been provided.

² Sites could have the same name and same start date to account for multiple operable units at a given site.

³ Ongoing removal actions are those that are ongoing at the time they are pulled. Removals completed to date in FY 2022 are listed as ongoing due to the fluctuating data that may occur before final fiscal year reporting.

⁴ Where available, the EPA has provided information on whether responsible parties have faced criminal charges and the amount of recovered federal dollars.
